The Brothers Landau • Cello. Guitar. Magic.

Cello-guitar duo known for meticulously arranged, clever, and catchy indie pop with sibling harmonies.

Brothers David and Daniel Landau blend a wide range of musical influences to create cathartic indie pop that feels like being with good friends after a lousy week.

Over their decade of playing music throughout Europe, Brazil, and the U.S., the Brothers have honed their sound and hearts and connected with people of all ages and backgrounds. Their upcoming EP, Haven't Got a Name, examines the struggle of trying to be a grounded, honest person in today's world. They draw from their experiences to explore the beauty, pain, and uncertainty of working to find meaning and live a good life in the modern age.

When not touring or performing, the Brothers curate and host Sound & Sight Shows, a listening room-style concert series to promote local and rising artists from L.A. and abroad.
